EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Romance Linguistics, University of California, Berkeley, Expected May 2024 Graduate Certificate in Applied Data Science

Dissertation

Title: "Trilingual production and perception of lexical stress: Extending the cue-weighting transfer hypothesis to L3 acquisition"

Dissertation advisor: Justin Davidson, Department of Spanish & Portuguese, UC Berkeley

B.S. in Chemistry, Double Major in Spanish, Baylor University, Summa Cum Laude, May 2018

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Bilingual/L3 phonetics and phonology; production-perception link; experimental phonetics; quantitative and computational methods; US Spanish; Spanish-Catalan bilingualism; open science.
